DEM. PRIMARY CALLED.

Beckham Dictates Action of the Committee.

Regular Election Day November 6th Time Fixed--State Ticket to be Nominated.

There was no obstruction in the pathway of the machine and the Democratic Executive Committee, which is controlled absolutely by Gov. Beckham, which was in session but a few minutes yesterday afternoon when it adopted a resolution calling a primary for November 6, election day, to nominate a candidate for United States Senator and candidates for State offices. The resolution, which was offered by W. A. Lee, the member from the Seventh district, and seconded by Col. Biscoe Hindman, the member from the Fifth district, was adopted without a dissenting vote, although Judge R. B. Bradley, the member from the Second district, refrained from voting. It was apparent to all that Gov. Beckham and the machine were in absolute control, and the action of the committee created no surprise, it having been predicted in The Herald several weeks ago.

During the day, however, there were several surprises, the chief of which was the action of the Second Railroad district in postponing any action looking toward a nomination for Railroad Commissioner until after the State primary is held. This was a decided victory for Representative Thomas Drewry, of Louisville, who is a candidate for the nomination. Mr. Drewry urged the committee to call a convention and he was supported by his manager, Col. W. B. Haldeman, editor of the Louisville Times. While it is not positively known what action the committee will take, it is generally believed that a convention will be held in the early spring.

Another surprise of the day, one that shocked the Louisville machine, was the announcement made by J. Morgan Chinn, of Mercer county, present Clerk of the Court of Appeals, that he would be a candidate for Secretary of State. Until yesterday Hubert Vreeland was the only announced candidate for this office and was thought to have the support of the State administration. Now, however, it is the opinion of well posted politicians that Gov. Beckham has severed for good all relation with the Louisville organization and will support the candidacy of Chinn. This is taken as another sign that the Louisville organization will support Senator McCreary in his fight against Gov. Beckham.

IN GREEN RIVER

Was Roy Cobb Drowned Last Sunday Afternoon While Bathing.

Robbert Cobb, aged 14 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cobb, of Webster county, was drowned in Green river at Wrightsburg at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

The Cobb boy, with several other boys, had gone to the river for the purpose of bathing. After young Cobb had prepared himself to go into the river he walked down to the water's edge, and turning himself around, backed into the water, saying he was going to baptize himself.

The banks are very steep at that place and he soon backed into very deep water and went down and was not seen any more by any of the crowd with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Cobb are among the best and most influential people of Webster and are almost stricken with grief.

It is thought by some people as there is a great deal of drift and brush on the bottom of the river at Wrightsburg, that the boy caught under a bush under the water, which was the cause of him not coming up after he went down the first time.

New Military Company.

Hartford can now boast of a company of State Guards.

Monday night fifty young men were mustered into service by Captain Richard McCracken, of Greenville. They will be united to the 3rd Kentucky Infantry. The enterprise met with opposition from the beginning, but the persistent efforts of those promoting it have met with success. The company is sure to take high rank in the service, for it is composed of a most excellent class of young men.

The county should take sincere pride in this organization, for, from every standpoint, it is highly commendable.

The following are the commissioned officers elected, viz:
James M. DeWeese, Captain;
Oscar Midkiff, 1st Lieutenant;
Chester F. Owen, 2nd Lieutenant.

Non-commissioned officers are:
1st Serg. — Lawrence Shown;
Quartermaster, Sergeant, Ernest Woodward; Duty Sergeants are as follows: R. E. Duke, W. C. Liles, Oscar Flenner and R. W. Tinsley.

1st Squad—Marvin Black, Corporal; Walton Petty, Charles Black, Seymour Bennett, Carl Anderson, John Hamilton, Luther Smith, Frank Hamilton.

2nd Squad—Willie Hinton, Corporal; Dudley Westerfield, Roy R. Heaverin, Herbert B. Shown, T. E. Davidson, Elmo Jones, John Stevens, L. P. Miles.

3rd Squad—Perry Keown, Corporal; Will Robinson, O. E. Powers, Ney Foster, Arthur Petty, Alonzo Sanderfur, Almon Duke.

4th Squad—Otto Martin, Corporal; Douglas Felix, Allison Barnett, Evans Calais, Lawrence Gary, Ben H. Bennett, Tyner Westerfield.

5th Squad—John P. Taylor, Corporal; Charles Collins, Van Crabtree, Will Riley, Owen Ambrose, John W. Taylor, Ellis Foster.

Allison Barnett and Douglas Felix, were appointed as company musicians.

JETT CONFESSES.

Implicates Hargis, Callahan and Others in Assassination of Marcum and Others.

Cynthiana, Ky., June, 12.—The confession of Curtis Jett, of which rumors have been published for several days, was to-day given out by Jett's attorneys for publication. It is a remarkable story, giving, as it does, complete details of the murder of James Cockrill and the assassination of James B. Marcum and throwing some important light on the assassination of Dr. B. D. Cox.

Jett says he, John Smith and John Abner killed James Cockrill; that Robert Deaton went after Abner and Smith to aid in the murder and that Elbert Hargis, Ed Callahan, Jesse Spencer and Bill Britton are the men who formed the conspiracy.

Starting out with these broad statements he enters extensively into details of the murder and under skillful examination by Attorney J. Stanley Webster, lays bare every feature of the conspiracy and the events before and after the murder.

He then confessed to the murder of James B. Marcum, which, he says was at the instance of Hargis and Ed Callahan, declaring that the pistol with which he did the shooting was furnished by Callahan for the purpose. He says B. J. Ewen told the truth about the killing.

Jett's statement in regard to the assassination of Dr. Cox is a little less sensational than his associations in regard to the other murders. He says he was at the jail and heard three shots, after which the telephone rang. He went to the Alex Hargis house and asked what the shooting was. Jett continues the story in these words.

"I said I didn't know, and Uncle Alex said, 'let's go down and see if Jim or any of them are hurt; I guess he was afraid to run in but I was fearless and didn't care you know, and I went to the yard, and in the shadow of the smokehouse—moon as bright as day I shall never forget it—stood Ed Callahan, Jim Hargis, Bill Britton, Jess Spicer and Elbert Hargis with two shotguns; I saw no pistols."

Jett closes his confession by saying that he has told the plain truth, nothing more and nothing less." He relieves Alex Hargis of any complicity in the Cockrill and Marcum murders, saying "he is in an innocent man."

FIRST GUEST

To Arrive at Louisville for Home Coming is Miss Hardin.

Louisville, Ky., June 12.—Miss Louise Lee Hardin, of Denver, the girl who suggested home coming, arrived at the Tenth-street station yesterday.

She was met at the depot by a delegation representing the Commercial club and escorted to the home of her relatives, where she will remain during the week. She arrived over the Monon from her home in Denver. Miss Hardin will be decorated with a handsome gold medal Wednesday morning for having suggested the event.

The history of the suggestion of home coming is familiar, but on the eve of the great "Week" it will bear repetition. Miss Hardin had returned from Denver to visit relatives and so pleasant was her visit that she called up the Commercial club, and, introducing herself to Robert Hughes, suggested that some event be prepared which distinguished Kentuckians could be invited to see. After a brief conversation, Mr. Hughes suggested that she reduce her suggestion to writing, which she did upon returning to Denver. The directors of the Commercial club adopted the suggestion, amending it only to invite all wandering Kentuckians, regardless of whether or not they had distinguished themselves. This latter plan met Miss Hardin's hearty approval and Kentucky home coming is its direct result.

IN FIFTEEN DAYS

Work on New Railroad to Begin-- Must be Completed in Eighteen Months.

As forecasted in last week's REPUBLICAN one of the bids for the construction of the Hartford Madisonville & Eastern Railroad submitted on the 4th inst has been accepted by the promoters of the road and in probably less than fifteen days actual work of construction will begin.

Walton, Wilson, Rhoades & Co., of Knoxville, Tenn., are the successful bidders the contract having been awarded to them last Saturday instead of to C. D. Smith, of Memphis, Tenn., who we suggested last week as probably being the company to whom the contract would be awarded.

The contracting firm will have associated with them Mr. J. W. Borchers, an expert in railroad building. The company is amply provided for the work, which is their specialty. They have 750 good teams and a number of steam shovels, and various other paraphernalia for railroad building. The contracting firm agrees to have the work done in 18 months, but they will probably complete it sooner as is their custom. It is intended to begin work at both ends and in the middle.

The new road, as heretofore stated will run through Hopkins Muhlenberg and Ohio counties, via Hartford, connecting with the L. & H. and St. L. railroad and be will sixty miles in length. It will develop a section of the green river country as as fertile and productive as any land in the State, heretofore inaccessible to railroad facilities. It will also be the cause of the immediate development of many thousands of acres of most valuable coal lands in the state the road as surveyed having been located over coal bearing section long recognized as being superior to any other in the State. Besides these things the people of this section of the State will be brought immediate contact with Louisville as a trading point, which fact alone is a very important consideration.

Home Coming Week Louisville, Ky.

On account of above occasion, round trip tickets will be sold from Beaver Dam to Louisville, Ky., for $3.40. Tickets on sale June 10th, 11th, and 12th, also for morning train June 13th, limited to June 23rd for return with extension privilege.

STILL GROWING

Is Interest in Free Trip to Mammoth Cave Contest.

Interest in our free trip to mammoth Cave contest still continues to grow. One new candidate Elijah Daniel added to the list this week and large batches of votes for many of the candidates have been turned in.

All candidates are rapidly learning how to get the votes. They collect from their friends and get them to vote for them. There are a few candidates yet who do not understand that they are entitled to collect on subscriptions and in turn receive the votes that the parties paying are entitled to cast. They are gradually catching on to this feature of the contest and will no doubt come in for a large number of votes next week.

Candidates from the various districts have been unusually active and many votes have been received. The standing of the various candidates is as follows:

HELPLESS UNFORTUNATES

Are Made to Lay in Jail to Await Machines' Pleasure.

Liberty of Kentucky's Unfortunate Women and Children at Mercy of Machine.

The Mayfield Monitor recently published an account of the incarceration of Mr. Joseph Tolbert, who had been adjudged insane, in the Graves county jail and detention there for several days to await pleasure of the Democratic machine's agent, Mr. Percy Haley, to convey him to the Hopkinsville asylum. It has, from time immemorial, been the law that when an unfortunate individual was found to be insane the Sheriff or some relative, at the discretion of the county judge, was appointed to carry him to the asylum. But the recent Legislature passed a law providing for a board whose duty it is to carry the unfortunates to the asylum.

Taking up the subject as introduced by the Monitor the Owensboro Messenger deals out the following to the unscrupulous Machine.

Assuming to himself the right to exercise judicial functions, Chairman Percy Haley has ordered that persons adjudged to be insane shall be held in the county until one of the agents of the asylum. The result of that utterly illegal and outrageous order caused the detention of Mr. Tolbert, a brave Confederate veteran, in the jail until one of the machine made agents could be given an opportunity to make a few dollars out of the misfortune of the old veteran.

There may come a time when some judge of the circuit court will order the Sheriff of the county to take the party adjudged to be insane to the asylum, without waiting permission from Percy Haley and without regarding the hungry maw of the machine and its agents for a few extra dollars. It was bad enough to keep an old gentleman in jail among prisoners accused of crime, when only misfortune and not crime made it necessary for Tolbert to be restrained of his liberty. He had fought for the Confederacy, and in his latter days was smitten and his reason fled. To have had him taken at once to the asylum would have been a work of mercy to one most deserving. But the law enacted by the board, of which Percy Haley is the chairman and the moving figure, decrees other wise for the machine needs recruits as badly as ever and maybe even a little more than ever, and the recruits need money, and the service of the State is made to clock their hanger.

But suppose it had been some venerable mother? Or some devoted wife or loving daughter—or some prattling child. It would not have made the slightest difference. The orders have gone out from Percy Haley and the veteran, the father, the mother, the wife, the daughter, or the child must be herded with the criminals or outcast in the common jail of the counties of Kentucky until Percy Haley can look over the money roll of the machine and decide whose turn it is to make a few dollars out of the misfortune of the person adjudged to be insane.

The foul smelling jail, with its odors and its taint of crime, is to be the abiding place of the man the woman and the child of Kentucky who may be adjudged insane, because Percy Haley has ordered—is prepared—as the machine is always prepared—to make a few dollars out of the misfortune of the person adjudged to be insane.

It is up to Kentucky to answer with emphasis that "Perceps" will neither tolerate a machine nor condone inhumanity to the insane whether the machine agent needs the money or whether the person needs it. The Tolbert case is an outrage and Kentucky should not wait to act against it.

Jellied Chicken.

Take a large chicken and after carefully cleaning and washing it, cut it up as though you were to stew it. Then place the pieces on a meat-board, and pour over with a pot-to-beaters until all the flesh is mashed and the bones thoroughly crushed. Place them in a double boiler and pour over them one quart of filtered cold water. Stir in even teaspoonful of salt, fill the lower part of the double boiler with cold water, and set it where the water will boil. From time to time open the upper part of the double boiler where the chicken is, and stir it around. Add no more water to the chicken, but fill the lower part from time to time as the water boils away, always adding boiling water after the water has begun to boil the first time. Let the chicken cook at least six hours, then take it off and strain through a fine sieve into a bowl. Set away to cool. When cold skim off the grease, which will raise to the top. Underneath you will find a clear hard jelly. This may be served cold, a teaspoonful at a time, chopped fine; or it may be warmed into a soup, a little at a time, for invalids. This recipe is invaluable for those very ill.

BURIED THE PLANT.

How the San Francisco Daily News Was Saved From Destruction.

The foresight of Hamilton B. Clark, manager of the San Francisco Daily News, together with the loyalty of a number of the employees, saved from destruction practically all of the working property, with the exception of the heavy presses, which could not be moved. Immediately after the first severe shock Mr. Clark, whose home is in the Oakland suburbs, dressed and hurried to the office in San Francisco, fifteen miles away. Upon arriving there he found practically the whole working force already assembled. Without delay he directed that the entire battery of linotype machines be carried to a vacant lot immediately back of the News building, where a hole sufficiently large to accommodate them was dug. Into this hole were also placed the contents of the office safe all type and other metals, files of papers, writing machines, etc. Several hours before the fire reached this district, which was swept absolutely clean, everything except the heavy presses was buried under three feet of earth.

The News Building had been completed only a short time before the catastrophe. Its location, more than a mile west of our daily newspaper plants of San Francisco was all that saved the working plant from the destruction which the other dailies suffered. Immediately after the fire had passed through the section where the News plant stood and had swept away practically every vestige of the News building the typesetting machines, etc., were uncovered and put into operation.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble - Don't Know It.

How To Find Out.
Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours. A sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys. If it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble. Too frequent urination, passing it or pain in the back is also evidence of kidney trouble.

What To Do.
There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and swelling pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c and $1.00 bottles.

You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail. Address: Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this paper as your offer in this paper. Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

PUSHED WHEELBARROW.

From His Missouri Home to Kentucky.

J. W. Owens Walked 570 Miles and Arrived Ahead of Home-Coming Time.

After walking about 570 miles since May 9, J. W. Owens, seventy years old, trundled a wheelbarrow into New Albany yesterday morning about 10 o'clock, says last Friday's Courier-Journal. He acknowledged to being slightly footsore, but was high spirited and as active as a young man. He is on his way to the homecoming and spent last night in New Albany, but he expects to cross the Kentucky and Indiana bridge at 10 o'clock this morning and if he is not met at the Kentucky terminal by a brass band and a procession of citizens he will be a disappointed old man.

Mr. Owens is a native-born Kentuckian, and is anxious to place his foot on the old soil again. He left his home at La Platte, Mo., about 200 miles north of St. Louis, on May 9, and has walked every step of the way, averaging eighteen miles a day on his journey. He is a native of Cave City, Ky., and went to La Platte nearly thirty years ago. He has served a term as city clerk and one term as city marshal of La Platte and now keeps a restaurant and acts as auctioneer. He has pushed the wheelbarrow, which is now becoming slightly dilapidated, during the long journey. On the rude vehicle is a box in which he carries his baggage on which is inscribed, "Missouri to Old Kentucky for Home-Coming." He proudly calls himself "Old Kentucky," and in less than an hour after reaching New Albany he had speaking acquaintance with half the people there.

The old man was particularly pleased with the hospitable treatment accorded him on his journey, especially through Illinois and Indiana, and says that he was treated like a prince, nothing being lacking that would add to his comfort. He was attired in a white cotton hat, a seersucker coat, striped, short dark trousers and serviceable brogans. He solicits no contributions on the way, and is making the trip, he says, more from the novelty of it, although he acknowledges that he did not have any too much cash. He declares that he has had sufficient walking, however, to last him the remainder of his life, and when he returns it will be in a railway coach, with the wheelbarrow in the baggage car.

Good and Bad.

In the beginning God created the heavens and the earth, then the editor, then the liberal advertiser—which was all good. The next day it snowed and He created the man who does not believe in advertising; another who does not take the home paper—and then He rested. And then the devil got into the molding room and created the man who takes the paper for several years and fails to pay for it. After he had completed that sorry job, and having a few lumps left, he created the excuse of a man who settles his subscription by informing the postmaster to mark his paper "refused."—Missouri Freeman.

Character Indicated By The Hair.

Auburn hair means a kindly, sympathetic nature.

Curls denote a feeble sense of right and wrong, gayety, vivacity, self confidence.

Straight black hair growing coarse and thick means more order and industry than mental power.

Fine brown hair only accompanies excellent minds generally the owner has intellectual tendencies.

Red hair is strongly characteristic—no half way business there. It usually indicates a quick temper, although there are exceptions.

Beautiful golden hair is rarely seen on persons of gross nature. Its owner loves fine arts and possesses exquisite sensibilities.

Hair and eyebrows differing in color are said to mean untrustworthiness. They indicate race mixture, and bespeak a wavering unsteady nature.

As a rule, smooth, fine softly waving hair betokens gentleness, quietness, neatness. Unduly sleek hair gives warning of slyness, hypolisy.

SUICIDE BY POISON.

Thought Probable in the Charles Young Case.

Role in His Cheek Was Not a Bullet Wound, But a Slight Abrasion.

Charles Young, a prominent young man of Fordville, and a traveling salesman for a novelty house in Louisville, was found dying last Thursday on the road near Baskett Station, Henderson county, on the Louisville, Henderson and St. Louis railroad, with a wound in his right cheek.

The body was discovered by Vogel Day, a farmer, who was driving to the station in a wagon. The body was lying about half a mile from Baskett to the north side of the railroad track. Day found the man to be still alive and attempted to revive him, but without success. The man never regained consciousness. The coroner of Henderson county was summoned and held an inquest over the body, the jury returning a verdict that the man came to his death from unknown causes. The coroner had returned to Henderson when a wound was discovered upon the cheek of the dead man and he was again summoned; but the second inquest brought out no new facts.

Nothing was found about the body to indicate a suicide, and a report was given out that he had been murdered. The remains were taken to Owensboro where Dr. W. F. Stirman made an examination of the body and said that the symptoms were of strong poison. The general belief is that the man committed suicide.

The report was given out Thursday afternoon that the wound in Young's cheek was made by a bullet and the impression was that he was murdered. An examination showed, however, that the wound was not by a bullet, but probably by a fall.

Young lived at Fordville and was held in the highest regard there. He was formerly in business at at Olaton and Caneyville, but he has been traveling for a year. Young was subject to dissipation, but was cured for a while few years ago, but recently returned to his old habits. Letters were found upon the man from his wife, calling him home. Besides his wife he has two little children.

The Checker Board Town.

Improvements, as St. Paul said of science, is often "falsely so called." If the real estate men would but forget the checker-board idea in laying out a new town, and would take a good landscape gardener into their confidence and the contour of the land into their consideration, and plant trees accordingly—suburbies would rise up and call them blessed.

The sincerest tribute that can be paid to superiority is imitation. The many imitations of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve that are now before the public prove it is the best. Ask for DeWitt's. Has Stone Age Man's Body.

The oldest body of any human being now reposes in the Egyptian gallery of the British Museum. It is the body of a man who was buried in a shallow grave hollowed out of the sandstone on the west bank of the Nile, in upper Egypt.

This man must have hunted along the banks of the Nile before the time of the earliest mummied king which the museum possesses—before

The Best Guaranty of Merit Is Open Publicity.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famous medicine leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicine in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities.

The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart regulator and blood purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, overworked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own, being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contains alcohol, or any harmful, habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe to use and potent to cure.

Not only do physicians prescribe the above, non-secret medicines largely, but the most intelligent people employ them—people who would not think of using the ordinary patent, or secret medicines. Every ingredient entering into the composition of Dr. Pierce's medicines has the strongest kind of an endorsement from leading medical writers of the several schools of practice. No other medicines put up for like purposes has any such professional endorsement.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. Druggists sell them, and nothing is "just as good." Easy to take as candy.

the time of Menes, who was supposed to have ruled Egypt at least 5000 B. C. There were previous to that time two prehistoric races, one the conquerors and the other the conquered, from which sprang the Egyptian race of the earliest dynasties. It is with these remote stocks that this man has to do. Considering the condition in which he was found, it is evident that he was associated with a late period of the new stone age of Egypt.

He was buried in a characteristic neolithic grave, with his neolithic pots and instruments of flint about him.

Story of a String.

"I'm only a piece of string, but I have my feelings, and I'm very grateful to Tommy for saving me from the fire."

The piece of string lay coiled up in Tommy's pocket, with whom he was not on friendly terms.

"I never was as nearly lost as yesterday," he went on, "though I've suffered a great deal in my time. Once I was fifty yards long, and look at me now!"

"Tell me how it happened," begged the pencil.

"Once upon a time, though you'll hardly believe me," said the string, "I was a beautiful green waving plant called hemp. I lived in the country then, and except for one cottage there were no houses near. In this cottage there lived a mother and a father and a dear little baby. How I loved that baby, and how I should like to see him again!"

"Well, one day I was cut down. That was bad enough, but there was worse to follow. I was sent to a factory, where I endured all sorts of tortures, and when at length I left it I was no longer a plant, but a fine large ball of string."

"I next visited a place called a shop and to this shop Tommy's uncle came and bought a toy ship and a jumping rope for Tommy and his sister. The storekeeper cut off this piece of me to tie up the parcel. Then I would have been thrown into the fire if Tommy had not saved me."

THE POT OF GOLD

Dug Up on the Atherton Lot, Louisville, To Be Divided Up.

Settlement of the legal controversy over the possession of the gold found on the site of the Mary Anderson Theater, at Louisville, last March by negro laborers is about to be reached by an agreement among the various claimants for the money.

Under the terms of the compromise, which has yet to be approved by the Judge of the Taylor Circuit Court, the heirs of Abraham Van Dyke, of Taylor county, who is thought to have placed the money there, will receive $600. Walter A. Cloyd, the administrator of Davis who was killed at Campbellsville, where he went after he got the money, receives $600, while Mr. Eppstein, the grocer to whom the negro first took the money after his discovery, gets $66.

It is said by the members of the Van Dyke family that the gold was one of the ten cans, each containing $2,000, which were placed in the cellar of the house in 1863 by Abraham Van Dyke, who had brought it to this city, fearing that the soldiers on either the Federal or Confederate side might find it and take possession of it. He concealed it in the cellar of the house for a day or so, until he had sufficient time to negotiate a mortgage into which to place the money. When he went into the cellar to secure the gold he could only find nine cans full, or $18,000.

Davis only took $1,400 of the gold out of the foundation with him. The remaining $600 had been secured by other negro laborers in the fight over the treasure when it was discovered.

Hard to Define.

"What we want," said the agitator, "is reform."

"And what is reform?" asked the sincere man.

"Well," was the answer after a pause, "there are a great many kinds of reform."

"There is the great difficulty. Reform is almost anything that would be different from what is."

When Women Rule.

"Yes, the new woman policeman caught the burglar as he came out of the window."

"She arrested him, of course?"

"No, she didn't. She took him under the street lamp and then let him go."

"Why did she do that?"

"She said he was too handsome to be locked up."

Reversed.

"So you are the gentleman who runs 'Hints to the Home Gardener'?" said the fair caller in the newspaper office. "Do you obtain your own garden?"

"Oh, I haven't any garden," replied the shallow young man with the pen behind his ear. "I live in a flat."

"You don't say. Well, perhaps the gentleman who writes 'Hints on Renting Flats' could give me some good advice from his experience in apartment houses?"

"Oh, he doesn't live in an apartment house. He lives in the country."

Vaccinated in the Eye.

By a simple misadventure a doctor practicing in a town near Manchester has become the victim of a peculiar and painful inoculation. While breaking a tinea of phial containing an infant a particular of glass flew up and struck him on the pupil of the eye. Adhering to the glass fragments was an almost microscopic quantity of lymph. The doctor realized the damage of vaccination to which he was exposed and immediately bathed his eye. So tender, however, is the skin of the eye that the glass made a minute scratch, and a day or so afterward the usual symptoms which follow inoculation gradually appear.

The pain and discomfort which ordinarily arise from the operation in this instance are acutely aggravated and he is going through exactly the same process as if he had been vaccinated on the arm. The patient cannot sleep and in consequence the eye is never at rest. The eye is bandaged up and the doctor is forbidden to read. When it is dark he walks abroad under the shade of the trees and away from the gas lamps.

The accident occurred about six weeks ago, and it is the first of its kind in England, though it is said that such cases have happened in Germany. It is not likely that the eye of the unfortunate doctor will be impaired.

A Foolometer.

Some visitors who were being shown over a pauper lunatic asylum inquired of their guide what method was employed to discover when the inmates were sufficiently recovered to leave.

"Well," replied he, "you see, it's this way: We have a big trough of water, and we turn on the tap. We leave it running, and tell 'em to bail out the water with pails until they've emptied the trough."

"How does that prove it?" asked one of the visitors.

"Well," said the guide, then as ain't idiots turns off the tap.

ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce S. A. ANDERSON, of West Hartford Precinct, a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly from this, the 26th district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

We are authorized to announce CLARENCE DEWEENE, of Shreve Precinct, a candidate for Representative in the General Assembly, from this, the 26th district, subject to the action of the Republican party.

Examine the label on your paper, if it is not correct notify us.

ONE week until the Street Fair.

BRYAN has carried four States already—Missouri, Ohio and Urey Woodson.

THE meat packers are evidently not of the opinion that cleanliness is next to godliness.

WE greet you from our new home, where we will be glad to have you come and inspect us.

THE croakers are again declaring that even the breakfast wheat is not what it is cracked up to be.

WITH an annual allowance of $90,-000 young Queen Victory ought to have at least two hats a year.

THOUSANDS of women all over this land are anxious to see Mr. Smoot restored to the bosom of his families.

IT begins to look as if the Bryan band wagon will be uncomfortably loaded long before Grover Cleveland is heard from.

NO ONE knows what the next development in Russia is going to be, but the prevailing impression is that it will be something unpleasant.

IF Alfonso is not out in a few days, with a declaration that all men should get married, we shall fear that his enthusiasm is wearing off.

IT is claimed that the lid was not on very straight in Louisville last Sunday. We feared this death-bed penitence would not amount to much.

THOSE who want to come to Hartford to live had better get in on the ground floor. It will soon be difficult to get lots within a mile of the business section.

HARTFORD now has a military company. We are prepared to defend ourselves against all invaders, and may take the offensive. Let Germany and Japan beware.

IT has been over two years since the Legislature authorized the building of a new State capitol. The corner stone has just been laid, and it will now be in order to appropriate another million dollars to carry on the work (?).

WATTERSON and Woodson are agreed that Beckham should go slow with his primary machine. They ought to recognize the demonstrated theory, that it is more humane to kill a man quickly, than to crush his bones by slow and clumsy process.

IF the ordinance, providing for the clearing of the sidewalks of weeds, grass and other vegetation, was enforced with as much vigilance as the one prohibiting the burning of waste paper on the streets the citizens will, as the voice of one man, speak approval.

DEMOCRATIC Conventions in seven Missouri counties have declared for Bryan for President, some of them "upon a platform to suit himself." There is ground for suspicion that Gov. Folk is asleep at the switch. To add to the complication, it will be noted that Bryan has practically cinched the vote of China, Japan and India.

INDICATIONS point to the nemination of that grand old Republican, Dr. A. D. James, for Congress in the Third district. If given the standard, the Doctor will carry it to certain victory. He knows how and is not afraid. He was winning victories for the party, when some of its would-be-leaders of the present day were in swaddling cloths and eating from silver spoons.

LAST week vacant lots, almost a mile from the Court House in Hartford, sold at the rate of $700 per acre. This looks as though the day has passed when land owners could afford to maintain cornfields in the city limits. The town tax board of Supervisors will doubtless see that those who deprive people from buying lots and building homes, pay into the city Treasury sums commensurate with the exalted privilege of retarding our growth.

NOW THAT our railroad is assured, Hartford will proceed to grow as never before. We must begin to plan a sewerage system and to finish rocking our streets. We cannot long expect to keep a healthy town without the former, and we need not expect the county to pike the roads leading into Hartford, unless we fix streets to correspond. The Fiscal Court will never build a pike leading into a mud hole. No sensible citizen of town could expect it to do so.

JUDGE GEORGE DURELLE has been appointed United States Attorney to succeed the late R. D. Hill. Judge DuRelle is a deserving Republican, and in every way well qualified for the position. His Assistant Attorney will be Mr. Jolly, of Owensboro, son of Hon. Geo. W. Jolly, who was District Attorney under Harrison's administration. Mr. M. H. Thatcher, who retires from the position of Assistant, has made a splendid official and there was no cause for his removal. He was from the Third District, and this leaves that district practically without representation at the "pie counter," among the important places.

BACK OF ALL OTHER ARGUMENTS.

Possibly, if Germany had as extensive farming area as the United States, with as rich yields and opportunity for easy cultivation by machinery, as in the wheat fields of the United States, and if German manufacturers had a home market as rich as that in the United States, the conditions of German labor would be far different. But so long as German workers are so miserably underpaid, there is all the more reason for retaining the Protective Tariff in favor of the American workman and his standard of wages, that the foreigner may not undersell the American in the home market. That is precisely why the Protective Tariff is supported by the great body of Americans. Conditions in this country, under the present system, are favorable to good wages and prosperity among those employed in American industries. To overthrow the Protective system would be a dangerous experiment. It would imperil the present standard of wages and the standard of living among American wage earners. Back of all other arguments, the question of wages and living underlies the Protective policy of the United States, and the voters of this country have usually borne that fact so steadily in mind that for two generations the Protective policy has been the prevailing Tariff law of the country.—Boston "Advertiser."

OUTRAGEOUS RULING.

AS AN example of the extent to which the State Democratic machine will go to put a few pennies in the pockets of henchmen, attention is called to the article published elsewhere in this issue, giving an account of the jailing of an old man at Mayfield, who had been adjudged of unsound mind.

The new State Board of control has made a rule requiring that, when anyone is tried and pronounced a lunatic in any county in the State, the Chairman, Mr. Percy Haley, must be hunted up and notified about the particulars. He will then inform the Superintendent, who in turn sends word to a deputy to go

A Bad Stomach

Lessens the usefulness and mars the happiness of life.
It's a weak stomach, a stomach that can not properly perform its functions. Among its symptoms are distress after eating, nausea between meals, heartburn, belching, vomiting, flatulence and nervous headache.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

to the county wherein the patient is located and transfer to the Asylum. You will understand, however, it all depends upon Mr. Haley. That worthy must first be found, whether he be in French Lick Springs or Kalamazoo. In the mean time the poor patient must wait in jail, unless relatives are able to employ guards. The time honored custom has been for the Sheriff and some relative of the unfortunate, appointed by the court to accompany the person to the Asylum, exercising the most tenderness possible. Now, this must be done by a rank stranger, with no sympathy for the patient, which comes from acquaintance or ties of kinship. Under this arrangement, it may often be a week until all this circumlocution can be accomplished. In the mean time the father, mother, brother or sister of some one must stay in jail with common criminals, unless guarded at the expense of relatives.

A few days ago a prominent Physician of this county, in company with a highly respected citizen, who happened to be a Democrat, took a patient to Hopkinsville to be confined in the Asylum. The person had been declared of unsound mind by a jury and the court had appointed the Physician who had been giving treatment and a gentleman who was a friend. When they arrived at the Asylum they were treated with rudeness, and their attention was called, in a sharp manner to the new rule, and they were denied part of the expense which they had incurred in caring for their charge. The Superintendent demanded to know if this county had a Republican County Judge. As though that had anything to do with the trial and conveyance of an unfortunate lunatic to the Asylum. A place provided and maintained by the taxpayers of Kentucky, where these poor people may be cared for, if possible, cured, and returned to their homes to make better her citizenship and relieve distressed families.

These gentlemen, who are for the time in charge, seem to have conceived the idea that these institutions are to be used to further their own selfish ambitions. How long will the voters of proud old Kentucky endure such a condition?

EQUITY WAREHOUSE CO.

Finally Organized by Daviess County American Society of Equity.

The organization of the Daviess county Equity Warehouse company is an accomplished fact says the Owensboro Messenger. Almost without opposition, a motion to proceed with the organization of a warehouse company passed at the meeting of presidents of locals and stock holders at the court house Saturday. Within an hour after this motion was declared carried, a board of directors had been elected, this board had met and elected officers, and the signatures of a number of the stockholders had been affixed to the articles of incorporation. Later, the articles were lodged with the county court clerk to be put on record.

The company is capitalized at $8,-000, more than half of which is ready to be paid in, as shown by reports from various locals Saturday. A number of local unions have not turned in their subscription list and it is believed that when all are in the entire $8,000 will have been subscribed. Subscriptions will still be taken, however, and it is in contemplation that amended articles will be filed before the warehouse begins business, increasing the capital stock to $12,000 to $15,000. Men who have looked thoroughly into the matter, however, believe that $8,000 will build and equip a warehouse sufficiently large to store 5,000 hogsheads of tobacco.

FOR THE BUSY READER.

Three cases of yellow fever are under quarantine in the Gulf of Mexico about midway between Mobile and the mouth of the Mississippi river.

The majority and minority reports in the Reed-Smoot case, the former vigorously calling for his expulsion on the ground of unfitness and the latter upholding him, were presented to the Senate Monday, but no effort at definite action was made.

Buy Hair at Auction?

At any rate, you seem to be getting rid of it on auction-sale principles: "going, going, g-o-n-e!" Stop the auction with Ayer's Hair Vigor. It certainly checks falling hair; no mistake about this. It acts as a regular medicine; makes the scalp healthy. Then you must have healthy hair, for it's nature's way.

A Day at the Old Home.
Back in the dear old home once more Brothers and sisters met;
The same sweet place we all still love And never can forget.
The time hath many changes wrought As in all earthly things,
Yet each its sacred shelter sought Our heart still to it clings.
Years had passed since we had sat Together beneath that roof,
And talked of other by-gone days-- The days of happy youth.

Gentle faces, there we missed That in the days of yore Had welcomed us with loving smiles Within that same old door.
The spreading maples still are there, With cool, refreshing shade,
The same, though taller, deeper grown 'Neath which we oft have played.
The roses and the lilies white Were in their fullest bloom,
Once more I, as in girlhood days, Inhaled their rich perfume.
Too soon, the evening shadows fell, Across the western sky,
Too soon, the happy days had flown,

And we must say good bye.
To other homes and other hearts To other duties went,
With recollections of a day In sad, sweet pleasure spent.

ACTOR BEGAN AS MINSTREL

Tales of Lights of the Stage as to How Start Was Made—Story of Booth and Banjo.

Back again in the cars, off for Cleveland, and at our midnight repast the subject of minstrels came up, relates Francis Wilson, in Scribner's. Jefferson said he thought he was one of the first men to black his face after the appearance and success of "Jim Crow" (T. D.) Rice.

"I suppose," said Mrs. Drew, "there are very few men in this company who have not at one time or another been associated with minstrel performances."

"I played 'Brudder Jones,'" said Mr. Jefferson.

"Everybody knows I was in the minstrel business," Goodwin exclaimed. "Yes," I remarked, "because we were there together." "Well," joined in Crane, "I was on the tambourine end with Campbell's minstrels." I remember telling this at Lawrence Barrett's house, at Cohasset, where the rest of the party consisted of Edwin Booth and Stuart Robson. Booth then told how he and J. S. Clarke were minstrels in their younger days, and he followed this up by declaring that he used to "pick a little on the banjo." I laughed, and Booth inquired the reason, and I added: "Oh, nothing much, only Booth and the banjo seemed such an odd combination."

Murder Only.

In several respects the Albanians are the most interesting people in Europe. They commit no crimes but murder. Among them human life has an even smaller value than in Sicily, and the vendetta prevails even more rigidly. The old law of an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth, and a life for a life, is strictly enforced, but the laws of hospitality are equally respected, and when once a man has broken bread or tasted salt with Albanians, his life is safe against all comers as long as he remains their guest.

World's Wheat.

England's wheat importation for 1905 amounted to 97,622,752 hundredweight. Russia supplied a fraction more than one-quarter of this (24,703,200), Argentina a little less than another quarter (23,236,400), and the British East Indies a little less than a third quarter (22,807,422). Australia supplied 10,044,700 hundredweight, the United States 6,634,700 and Canada 6,522,030. The imports of 1904 were approximately the same as those of 1905.

Athletic Girls.

Girls no longer round their shoulders and narrow their chests over their embroidery frames, or faint from fright when a mouse scuttles across the floor or a spider drops from the ceiling. They play golf and hockey; they go in for deep breathing and muscle stretching; they cycle 50 miles a day without turning a hair; they drive a motor as well as the most expert of chauffeurs, and their appetites are borrowed from the proverbial wolf!

Pedestrian Feat.

David Callard, 56 years old, has successfully completed a walk of 336 miles within 84 hours, walking 28 miles in seven hours each day for 12 days. The walk was done over the road between Bury, St. Edmunds and Newmarket, England.

Browse on Thatches.

The people of the Faroe islands thatch their houses with turf, where brilliant emerald green grass grows in luxuriance, and is used as a browsing ground for the goats and sheep.

Trying Position.

When a man meets his wife in a railroad station, he never knows whether to kiss her before all the people, or to pretend he is just a friend of the family.

Well Preserved.

Preserved salmon in porcelain-lined cans have been found in good condition in England, after being kept seven years.

Light of Radium.
If a small quantity of radium is held against the forehead while the eyes are closed one will see the light.

Consumption in Canada.
The annual number of deaths from tuberculosis in Canada is about 9,000.

Vitality of Wheat.
An English miller has successfully tested the vitality of some wheat which was grown in 1839, and carefully preserved since.

A Nuisance.

"Why is smarty so unpopular?" "He is one of these people who come around every day and tell you it isn't the heat that causes the discomfort but the humidity."

RENT PAYS FOR LAND
Fertile Sections of the Southwest.
Where Land Sells for $15 and Rent for $5 Per Acre.

One of the remarkable things about Eastern Arkansas and North Louisiana is the fact that cleared land rents for $5 per acre cash, and can be bought for $7.50 to $15 per acre. It costs from $6 to $10 an acre to clear it. Other improvements necessary are slight and inexpensive.

The soil is rich alluvial, or made, acre, worth $45 to $60. This account it produces a bale of cotton per acre for its high rental value. Others crops, such as corn, small grains, grasses, vegetables and fruits thrive as well.

Alfalfa yields 4 to 6 cuttings, a ton to a cutting, and brings $10 to 16 per ton.

In other sections of these states and in Texas as well, the rolling hill-land is especially adapted to stock raising and fruit growing. Land is very cheap, $5 to $10 acre; improved farms $10, $15 to $25 per acre.

The new White River country offers many opportunities for settlers. High, rolling, fine water it is naturally adapted to stock and fruit raising. Can be bought as low as $3 per acre.

THE "GOOD" THAT MEN DO

Brawny Butcher Stops to Feed Pigeons, Then Grabs One—Bird Is Liberated by "Cop."

A big, brawny man, with the florid complexion and vigorous appearance that most butchers have, drove through Penn square, says the Philadelphia North American. His horses were sleek and well groomed, and his wagon was loaded with "halves" and "quarters" of the animals that mankind likes to eat.

As the wagon passed the southwest corner of the city hall a flock of the pet pigeons which inhabit the crevices of that $25,000,000 pile settled down on the pavement. The butcher stopped his horses and got out of the wagon. Taking from one coat pocket a handful of ground peanuts, he approached the flock, and with endearing words, coaxed the birds to come up an eat out of his hand. It was such an exhibition of affection as one would not look for in a butcher, hardened as he is supposed to be, by his ruthless profession.

One of the spectators to this performance was a big reserve policeman, a tender-hearted fellow who loves the pigeons, and who was much affected by the butcher's kindness. The tears started to his eyes as he saw the brawny teamster making love to the birds.

"That's a mighty pretty sight," said the policeman, huskily.

At that moment the butcher, with a quick and dexterous movement of his right arm, caught one of the unsuspecting pigeons, buttoned it up in his coat, and mounted the seat of the wagon.

The policeman dashed away his tears and made for the butcher with a roar of rage. Before the man could chirrup to his horses the policeman man hauled him off the seat and liberated the frightened bird, which fluttered away to join his panic-stricken companions.

"If I ever catch you at that again, I'll not only run you in, but I'll knock your block off!" shouted the policeman, who didn't like to have his ideals so rudely punctured.

"Seems to me you're awful particular about your darned old birds!" said the aggrieved butcher, as he drove away. "What is pigeons for, if they ain't to eat?"

INDIANS AND RAILROADS.

Trails of the Red Men Used by Builders of Railways Through the Wilderness.

Gail Hamilton said if there never was to be any railroads it would have been an impertinence in Columbus to have discovered America. The Indian's knowledge of the location and direction of the rivers and lakes and of the positions of the portages, and his readiness, under the right sort of persuasion, to put this knowledge at the service of explorers, missionaries and settlers, "stood off" this stigma from Columbus before the railways came, says C. M. Harvey, in Atlantic. Indians guided Capt. John Smith, Champlain, and La Salle through the wilderness. Indian trails blazed the pathways for the pioneers through forests and over mountains. Sometimes these trails were utilized by the railway builders. At the Louisiana Purchase exposition at St. Louis and at the Lewis and Clark fair at Portland were monuments to the heroic Shoshone girl Sacajawea, who piloted Lewis and Clark across the Rocky mountains and through the wilderness on each side of that range in their exploration to the Pacific a century ago.

Valuable Winkle Shell.

Eaters of winkles will be wise if they keep a careful watch for shells in which the spiral runs the reverse way to the normal. Fifty dollars has been given for a single specimen of this freak formation. "Left-handed" shells of all kinds are extremely rare and always command good prices.

Tax on Fat.

The project of a tax on fat people is being considered in Sweden. The advocates of the tax argue that when a man is above a certain weight he is in a well-fed and consequently prosperous condition, and so in a position to contribute easily to the public funds.

MEDICAL TEACHING FAULT.

College Men Facing Serious Problem in Widening of Knowledge on Former Puzzles.

Advances in knowledge are so rapidly widening the medical horizon that the construction of a properly balanced curriculum is to those in charge of medical colleges a most serious problem, says American Medicine. In addition, the professor in charge of each branch finds difficulty in choosing from the almost exhaustless material at his command that which is of most value in the limited time at his disposal. Largely because of this disparity between material and the time for its presentation, each teacher concentrates his attention upon the points pertaining to his subject. This to a degree is eminently proper, but partly from necessity and partly from choice this concentration is too often made excessive. The head of each department attempts to make of the students under him specialists in that branch; at least if such attempt be not consciously made, the teaching imparted tends mightily in this direction. As a consequence one or both of two results is almost inevitable.

First, the importance of a branch is exaggerated and its relation to other branches is correspondingly minimized. Each subject is thus presented in an isolated and somewhat overdrawn manner and the student must needs compare and correlate them, a task which the exceptional man may accomplish, but for which the average medical undergraduate is entirely unfitted by previous training, and for which he has neither the time nor the inclination. Second, the practical side of the subject is subordinated to the scientific aspect. Concretely, learned discussions that would be appropriate for teachers of the branch are given to the higher classes or even to sophomores and freshmen as lectures. Well-rounded, accurate, critically summarized presentations of the subject though these may be, they go over the heads of the student just as surely as though delivered in Greek to men unfamiliar with that language. Enthusiasm leads to lack of balance, the teaching specialist being as prone to this condition as is the practicing specialist.

"WIRELESS" SAVES LIVES.

Report of Commander Cites Incidents Where Death Would Have Resulted But for Use of System.

People who still think wireless telegraphy only a scientific toy, will be interested in reading the official report of Commander Albert Gleaves, U. S. N., Commander of Gleaves, who is in charge of the naval torpedo station at Newport, R. I., gives a list of 11 distinct cases in which lives and property were saved from possible loss at sea through the agency of the wireless telegraph station at Newport alone. The most startling case was that of lightship No. 58, from which all hands were saved, though the ship was lost. "The above shows," says Commander Gleaves, "what a tremendous factor wireless telegraphy is destined to become in ameliorating, and, in many cases, altogether averting disasters on the high seas."

Mania for Shopping.

The executor of the estate of the late Mrs. Mary Cook King, of Brooklyn, who died at Flushing recently, has discovered that she possessed such a mania for shopping that she spent $250,000 at various stores within four years. She never opened the packages containing the purchased articles, which filled her large Brooklyn residence from top to bottom, one room being entirely filled with handkerchiefs.

He Had Suffered Much.

"Who is your favorite composer?" asked the eminent physician.

"I don't know," answered Mr. Hubbubs, wearily. "And if I did know I wouldn't be able to pronounce his name."—Stray Stories.

WERE TRAPPED IN A SEWER

Refugees Narrowly Escape Being Drowned When in Flight from Prussians at Siege.

We heard above us a dull, rumbling noise as from the wheels of vehicle and the heavy tread of great masses of men, from which we concluded that the Prussians were now entering the fortress and occupying the gates and the ramparts, says an extract from "Reminiscences of a Long Life," in McClure's Magazine. We also heard the striking of a church clock which gave the hour, our bench being near one of the manholes, so that the sound of the upper world reached us without much difficulty. About nine o'clock in the evening it began to rain, so heavily that we could clearly hear the splashing of the water as it poured down. At first it seemed to us that the rainstorm would be favorable to our plan of escape. But before long the matter appeared in a different light. We felt that the water was rising in our sewer and soon it began to shoot through it with great vehemence like a mountain stream. After awhile it flooded the bench upon which we were sitting and reached up to our chests. We also perceived living creatures which suddenly, with great activity, rushed and crawled around us. They were, undoubtedly, rats.

"We have to get out," I said to my companions, "or we shall be drowned." We left our bench and pushed forward. I had hardly advanced a few steps when in the darkness I ran my head against a hard object. I touched it and discovered that the obstacle was an iron railing. At once the thought came to me that this railing had been put there for the purpose of cutting off in time of siege communication between the interior of the town and the outside through the sewer. This thought, which I communicated at once to my companions, brought us almost to despair. But when I grasped the railing with both hands, as a prisoner may sometimes shake the iron rods of his dungeon window, I noticed that it could be moved a little, and a further examination proved that it did not reach quite down to the bottom, but left a free space of about two feet. Probably the railing was so arranged that it could be pulled up or let down, so that the sewer might be opened for purposes of cleansing and then shut again.

HE CHANCED HIS TACTICS.

Reader Could Not See by Flickering Light, So Persuades Editor to Adopt Larger Type.

"When one method fails," advised Congressman Daize in an address to a large assemblage of students, "don't be discouraged. Try another. If a bridge is too frail, turn your team into the stream and float across."

"An acquaintance of mine who travels home each evening on a suburban train had endeavored for years to persuade the railroad company to install a better system of lighting its cars. He asserted that his eyes were being ruined trying to read the evening paper."

"This regular complaint was listened to patiently by the conductor; the higher officials made promises, but the dim lights continued to flicker. Finally the disgruntled passenger ceased to grumble and made no further efforts to read."

"One evening the conductor was startled to see a complacent smile on my friend's face, as he sat in the car, eagerly reading his paper. The official glanced at the lamps, but nothing had been done to add to their brilliancy. He became very curious and elicited the following explanation:

"When I found that I could not influence this great corporation I tackled a lesser one. And I succeeded in persuading the newspaper publisher to use a larger-faced type."

Corn for France.

The average annual importations of foreign corn into France for the past three years were 14,000,000 bushels, of which the Argentine Republic furnished an average of 4,200,000 bushels, Roumania 3,000,000 and the United States 2,800,000 bushels.

First Water Wagon. Yeast—Was it in the Ark where water was turned into wine? Crimsonbeak—Oh, no; the Ark, was the original water wagon.

THE WIZARD OF CALIFORNIA

Luther Burbank Brings About Changes to Plants—Might Well Be Called a Magician.

In a vine-covered cottage which stands in sunny California there lives a man who is a wizard. At least he does things so wonderful that they seem like the work of a wizard.

If a man with bushy hair and pointed goatee and fierce mustache should come along and, with a wave of his wand, cause a blackberry bush to produce white berries; if he took a small, imperfect daisy and changed the plant into one that would yield large, beautiful, showy flowers; if he should change the perfume of a flower and cause walnuts to grow with thin shells and white meats, instead of thick shells and brown meats—wouldn't you call such a man a wizard?

But Mr. Luther Burbank, who has done all this and many things still more wonderful, carries no magic wand. If you should see him some day working at his wonders you would call him a plain gardener. If you should ask him about his plants and flowers he might tell you that he has only helped to give nature a chance to do some of the things she likes to do. He would say there is a great deal of hard work and patience and trying in all he does, but really no magic.

We have all noticed how a certain plant or tree gives us every year the same kind of fruit. A tree that bears red apples always bears just that kind. We never look there for apples of any other color. If we have a geranium whose flowers are white we know that its flowers will always be white. At least so we used to think. But Mr. Burbank is teaching us that with a little help nature is willing to turn a red poppy into a yellow one, and to let the prickly cactus grow without thorns and briars.

Think what such a change will mean. Thousands of miles on the western plains are covered with cactus which grows and thrives even without rain. The plant will make a rich food for cattle when Mr. Burbank persuades it to grow without thorns.

But do not suppose these changes are made in a single day or a single summer. If a fruit is to be improved a well-selected twig or slip is grafted upon a thrifty, healthy young tree, and then one must wait to see what grows. When Mr. Burbank wishes to find a new kind of flower or improve an old one he sprinkles the pollen or fine powder of one flower upon the stigma of another. This may give him something new. If he likes the result he does the same thing next season, always using the strongest, most thrifty plants. Think of the careful work and the years of patient waiting.

One of the most surprising things Mr. Burbank has done is to create a new kind of fruit. He calls it the plumcot, because its father was a plum and its mother was an apricot. It has no pit or stone and is richer in flavor than either the apricot or the plum.

So, after nature has been working in her own way for thousands of years, here is a plain man living in a cottage and directing nature into new ways. Would you not call him a wizard? Mr. Andrew Carnegie thinks these experiments so useful that he has given a large sum of money to be used by Mr. Burbank in his work.

You cannot induce a lower animal to eat heartily when not feeling well. A sick dog starves himself, and gets well. The stomach once overworked, must have rest the same as your feet or eyes. You don't have to starve to rest your stomach. Kodol for Dyspepsia takes up the work for your stomach, digests what you eat and gives it a rest. Puts it back in condition again. You can't get along with a diseased stomach. Try Kodol. Sold by Wayne Griffin & Bro.

STRONG Again

Is what Mrs. Lucy Stovall, of Tilton, Ga., said after taking Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. Hundreds of other weak women are being restored to perfect health by this remedy. YOU may be well if you will take it. Indigestion causes nearly all the sickness that women have. It deprives the system of nourishment and the delicate organs peculiar to women suffer—weakens, and become diseased.

Kodol Dyspepsia Cure

enables the stomach and digestive organs to digest and assimilate all of the wholesome food that may be eaten. It nourishes the body, and rebuilds the weak organs, restoring health and strength. Kodol cures indigestion, constipation, dyspepsia, sour risings, belching, heartburn and all stomach disorders.

HIS ONE MARVELOUS SHOT

Hunter Aimed at Doe and Killed Buck
High on Bluff—Established
"Rep" as Nimrod.

The saying: "A fool for luck," was never more clearly illustrated than in a little anecdote told by Col. Evans in his book on California. The author speaks of "buck fever" as being one of the most violent diseases which ever attacked the human system. It has been the undoing of many an experienced hunter, but in the case cited by Col. Evans it proved to be the making of a reputation.

A farmer in Illinois named Wheeler had never fired a gun. One winter, however, he heard so much talk about the sport of hunting that his ambition became excited, and borrowing a gun, he started out. When he came back he brought a magnificent buck, shot by himself square in the middle of the forehead. He said little about his achievement, but got the credit of being a crack shot, a reputation which, although he went hunting no more, he held for several years.

Then one day he told his story, and lost his name as a sportsman.

He had seen a doe drinking out of a creek at the foot of a bluff about 20 feet high. With wild excitement he got his gun to his shoulder, shut his eyes, set his teeth and pulled the trigger. To his astonishment he saw the doe bound away unhurt, while at the same time a glorious buck pitched headlong from the bluff into the creek, stone-dead.

The buck had been looking down at the doe, and Wheeler had not seen him at all, but his shaking gun sent its shot on a fatal although unintended errand.

Bought Beggar's Baby.

A lady in costly mourning attire was walking in a street in Vienna one day when she saw a beggar woman with three children, one of them a girl of two, sitting at the foot of the monument. She sent a street porter to ask if she would give up the girl. The woman nodded, whereupon the lady in black walked up to her, gave her some bank-notes and took the child to a store. Half an hour later she emerged with the same child elegantly dressed, hailed a cab and drove away.

Malaria in Horses.

The horse sickness of Cape Colony resembles human malaria, and attacks animals exposed in low-lying swamps or left out at night. Horses pass safely through affected districts during the day. The government bacteriologist of Natal suggests that the mosquitoes carry the infection, and he has shown that horses protected by wire gauze or smoke may remain unharmed in the midst of disease while the unprotected succumb.

Relic of Wesley.

A loving cup of old English jack-wood, once owned by Bishop Asbury's mother and frequently used as a sacramental cup by John Wesley when he administered the sacrament to the little band of Methodists at the Asbury home, has just been given to the Wesleyan university, Middletown, Conn.

Etiquette in Spain.

Ladies seldom rise in Spain to receive a male visitor, and they rarely accompany him to the door. For a Spaniard to give to a lady—even his wife—his arm when out walking is looked upon as a decided violation of propriety.

No Come-Back.

Husband (in an aside to his wife)—If you can't think of some more anecdotes of our children's smartness let's go home right away, for they're getting ready to tell us things about their own.—Baltimore American.

Fish Fact.

Preserved fish are generally more economical as food than fresh fish. Thus, salt cod furnishes 50 per cent. more nourishment than does fresh cod.

Short Pearling Season.

Although the Ceylon pearl-fishing season lasts but three to four weeks, 22,000,000 oysters are brought to the surface in that time.

Too Busy to Work.

The way to command a good price is to never cheapen one's stock in trade. At least that is the principle adopted by an Ohio justice of the peace. This gentleman, says a writer in the Philadelphia Public Ledger, has missed his calling. Given his opportunity, he would soon make a name among the humorists. An attorney in a neighboring city wrote to him to inquire about a judgment that had been entered against a client. He enclosed a stamp for reply. Several days later he received a postal card bearing this message: "Your inquiry received. I beg to inform you that my time is mighty valuable just now. Corn-cutting is most nigh here, politics is awaking, and the bass-fishing is fine. If you would inclose a dollar bill it might stimulate me some. I paid two dollars onet to a lawyer for answering a question, and all he said was 'No.'"

Sixty-Five Years at One Desk.

How healthy a vocation the law is has been once again proved in Suffolk, where the death has occurred at Bangay of Mr. Ambrose Boatwright, at the age of 85. Up to two years since, for no less than 65 years he occupied without a single break the same desk in the office of a firm of solicitors.

AT OUTS WITH THE FAMILY

Farmer's Son Went to Marry Widow, His Daughter Was Suing Alleged Lover, and Wife Had Deserted.

Along about noon, as I was riding horseback along a South Dakota highway, I came upon a settler at his gate, says a writer in the Rochester Democrat and Chronicle, and after he had brought my horse a pail of water, he asked:

"Stranger, did you meet a strapping young man with a set jaw between here and Ellendale?"

"Yes, I believe I did," I replied. "Well, that was my son Jim, going to town to marry a widdler woman 12 years older than he is. Durn his hide, but he wouldn't listen to me. Did you also meet a gal about 20 years old between here and town?"

"Cross-eyed and her nose turned up?"

"Yep. That's my gal Sal, who's gone to town to see a feller for breach-of-promise. Dog her cats, but nobody ever asked her to marry him or ever will."

"I also met a woman about 50 years old," I said.

"Red hair and freckled face?"

"Yes."

"That's my old woman. I told her this morning that if she didn't like my ways she could take the outside of the house, and drat her antics, if she didn't walk off. I was going to ask you to stop to dinner, but as things are as they are—"

I assured him that I wasn't a bit hungry, and that his excuses were all right, and lent him a chew of tobacco and left him trying to whistle up his spirits.

Safety Matches in Germany.

After January 1, 1908, the German government will prohibit the use of yellow and white phosphorus in the manufacture of matches. It is believed that neurosis caused by the workmen handling phosphorus becomes hereditary. The government's report "on a safe and harmless process of match manufacture" practically turns matchmaking into a government monopoly after the forthcoming date.

Refrigerator Cars in France.

Cold storage cars for the conveyance of dead fowls and meat from the country ports of Charente, Poitou, La Vendee and Touraine for the Paris market have been introduced on the state railways of France, in the interests of the agriculturists, who pay ten per cent. above the ordinary freight tariff for the use of the cars.

Destructive Sparrows.

The London board of agriculture advocates diminishing the number of house sparrows. It has been found by hundreds of examinations that from 75 to 80 per cent. of the food of the adult birds throughout the year consists of cultivated grain. The aggregate total taken when the sparrows are unchecked is very large.

Made by a Negro.

The first needle used in England was made in Queen Mary's reign by a negro, who, unfortunately, died before imparting the secret to anyone. In the reign of Queen Elizabeth the art of needle-making was rediscovered by a German, who imparted it to an Englishman.

Mountain for Kaiser.

The Kaiser has recently become a landowner in Switzerland by means of a legacy. A wealthy German merchant bequeathed to the emperor a whole alp, known as the Ifigen alp, in the canton of Berne.

Women in Dining Cars.

The Sanuki railway company of Japan has engaged uniformed waitresses for the service in its dining cars. They are not allowed to accept fees or to chat with travelers.

Our Troubles.

We are wont to look forward to troubles with fears of what they will inflict, but back upon them with wonder at what they have saved us from.—Chicago Journal.

Wheels of Leather.

Leather waste is no longer wasted. Manufacturers use it in a compressed form, instead of iron, to make cog-wheels.

Readings from the Bible are now being given in Berlin by professional reciters.

A Rat Killing Time.

It is quite common to hear of a "rat killing time," but a sure enough rat killing time is what seven men and one dog had at the old Carson place, near Noecree, a few days ago. A prominent citizen reports that such a crowd killed 119 rats in one afternoon. If any one can beat it let him speak out.
